Aberystwyth was a small settlement until the late 18th century, when it became a fashionable watering place. However, it was the 1864 arrival of the railway which turned the town into a popular seaside resort. In 1922, the railway was taken over by the Great Western Railway. Three years later, the original wooden station and the concourse were replaced by 'a grand terminus'. This distinctive building is now Yr Hen Orsaf ('old station').
